THE ALUMNI OF COLUMBIA COLLEGE

Entertaining a grateful sense of obligation to their Alma Mater for the intellectual and moral training received within her walls, and desirous of perpetuating the friendships established during their course in College, and of promoting the true interests, influence and efficiency of Columbia College as an institution of sound learning and practical education—the better to secure these ends, do agree to unite as an Association under the following

CONSTITUTION.

Article I.

This Association shall be known as “The Association of the Alumni of Columbia College.”

Article II.

SEC. 1.—This Association shall consist of regular, associate and honorary members.

SEC. 2.—All graduates of Columbia College who have heretofore enrolled themselves, or who may hereafter enroll themselves as members of this Association, shall be regular members thereof.

SEC. 3.—All persons who shall not have graduated, but who shall have been, or shall be, members of classes which have graduated, or shall have graduated, from Columbia College, may be elected by the Standing Committee associate members of this Association, but associate members shall not have the power of voting, or be eligible to office.

SEC. 4.—The President of Columbia College, or any member of the Board of Trustees, or of the Faculty, or any Ex-President, or ex-member of such Board or Faculty, not being a graduate of Columbia College, or any one who has received, or may hereafter receive, an honorary degree from the College, may be elected an honorary member of this Association, and shall be entitled to all the privileges of regular members, except those of voting and holding office.

Article III.

SEC. 1.—Every regular and associate member shall pay to the Treasurer the sum of two dollars annually, or, in lieu thereof, a life-membership fee of twenty dollars as a commutation for annual dues, and moneys paid in as commutation fees shall be funded under the direction of the Standing Committee and the interest shall be appropriated to the current expenses of the Association.

SEC. 2.—Should any regular or associate member, other than a life member, neglect to pay the said annual dues, and allow the same to become more than one year in arrear, he shall have no vote upon any subject before the Association until he shall have paid the dues in arrear; and further, the Standing Committee shall have power to erase his name from the roll of members, and he shall thereupon cease to be a member of this Association until restored by a vote of the Standing Committee, or of the Association.

Article IV.

SEC. 1.—The officers of this Association shall be a President, Vice-President, Secretary, and Treasurer, and shall be elected from the regular members and, with twelve other regular members, shall constitute the Standing Committee of the Association.

SEC. 2.—The said officers and committee shall be elected at the annual meeting of the Association, and shall hold their offices respectively for one year, and until their successors shall have been duly chosen.

Article V.

SEC. 1.—The President, or in his absence the Vice-President, or in their absence a President pro tempore, shall preside at the meetings of the Association.

SEC. 2.—The President shall have power to call extra meetings of the Association, and it shall be his duty to call a meeting thereof whenever five regular members shall request him to do so.

SEC. 3.—During the absence, illness, or other inability of the President to perform any of his duties, the Vice-President shall act as, and shall have all the powers of, the President.

Article VI.

The Secretary shall have the custody of the constitution, by-laws and records of the Association, and of the Standing Committee; he shall give due notice of all meetings of the Association, and of such committee; he shall keep accurate minutes of their proceedings, and shall notify officers and committees of their appointment, and of all resolutions or orders appertaining to their respective duties.

Article VII.

The Treasurer shall collect and take charge of the funds of the Association, and shall make ordinary disbursements as the Standing Committee shall direct; he shall keep a written account of his receipts and payments, and at each annual meeting shall report the same in writing to the Association, when a committee of three regular members shall be appointed to audit his accounts, which committee shall report to the Association, or to the Standing Committee, within one year from the date of their appointment; he shall also report to the Standing Committee the condition of the Treasury whenever required by said committee to do so.

Article VIII.

SEC. 1.—The Standing Committee shall hold its first meeting within one month after its election in each year, at such time and place as shall be designated by the Secretary of the Association, or, in case of his omission to do so within three weeks, by any three members of the Standing Committee.

SEC. 2.—Until the different organization of the Standing Committee in each year, the Vice-President of the Association shall act as its Chairman; and it shall be governed by the by-laws of the Standing Committee of the previous year, until other by-laws be adopted.

SEC. 3.—It shall be the duty of the Standing Committee to attend the examination of the students of Columbia College, and to make all proper arrangements for the annual meeting of the Association; and for these, as well as for other purposes, they shall have power to appoint such sub-committees out of their own number, or from other regular or associate members of the Association, or from both, as they may deem expedient.

SEC. 4.—Sub-Committees shall be deemed to be continued until discharged by the Standing Committee, although the term of office of the Standing Committee which appointed them may have expired, in which case they shall report to the successors in office of such Standing Committee.

SEC. 5.—The Standing Committee shall have power to accept resignations of officers of the Association and resignations of their own members, and to fill the vacancies caused by such resignations respectively, the appointees in such cases to hold office until the next annual meeting of the Association, and until their successors shall have been duly chosen; to call meetings of the Association; to disburse the funds of the Association to an amount not exceeding in any one year the aggregate amount of the annual dues of the members of the Association with the ordinary annual expenses of the Secretary and Treasurer deducted therefrom; and, in general, to do all things which in their judgment may be expedient for the promotion of the objects of the Association, subject only to such restrictions and limitations as are contained in this constitution, or shall be imposed by the Association.

SEC. 6.—The Standing Committee may elect its own Chairman, and shall every year, through its Chairman, present to the annual meeting of the Association a full report of all its proceedings and also of such other matters, in the form of recommendations or otherwise, as the Committee may deem proper.

Article IX.

An annual meeting of the Association shall be held on the first Monday of October in each year, for the purposes of business and literary and social entertainment, under the direction of the Standing Committee.

Article X.

The presence of fifteen members shall be necessary to constitute a quorum to do business, but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day.

Article XI.

Amendments to this constitution shall lie over for decision to the next meeting of the Association after they shall have been proposed, and the consent of two-thirds of the regular and associate members present shall be necessary to their adoption.

No proposed amendment shall be decided by the Association, except by unanimous consent, if more than two years shall have elapsed since the meeting at which such amendment shall have been proposed.
